Enjoying lovely views towards the cliffs and surf at Widemouth Bay this absolutely delightful 400 year old cottage is one of a pair set beside the 12th century church just off the square in one of Cornwall's prettiest villages. An old and rambling hydrangea frames the approach to this stunning property which sits in mature and gloriously pretty gardens whose extensive grounds fall away to reveal rolling countryside tumbling down to the Neet valley below. With the 'Atlantic Highway' nearby and Bude just 2 miles away this is a wonderful holiday location. The coastal path is close at hand whilst the Camel Cycle Trail lies to the south and the Tarka Trail to the north. Padstow and the unique village of Clovelly are among the myriad attractions within an easy drive. Pub serving food 100 yards shops 2 miles.

Sitting room with electric fire. Dining room with electric fire. Well equipped kitchen with slate floor. Cloakroom/WC. First floor: Double bedroom. Twin bedded room. Bathroom/WC (shower over bath).
