Whilst enjoying glorious views and a peaceful rural setting this cosy stone cottage is only a few minutes' drive from good routes making both the north and south Cornish coasts easily accessible. Set on the fringes of Bodmin Moor where ancient villages and standing stones hint of earlier inhabitants and the Jamaica Inn of Daphne du Maurier fame is found the cottage lies just 8 miles from Launceston's castle and bustling shops. Cotehele and Lanhydrock (both N.T.) are a short drive and the Bodmin and Wenford Railway and access to the Camel cycle trail at Bodmin are about 15 miles. Colliford (6 miles) and Siblyback Lakes offer water sports and fishing. Eden 28 miles. Pub 1 mile shop 1½ miles.

Comfortable open plan sitting room with electric fire and dining and kitchen area. Double bedroom with additional single bed (for + 1). Shower room/W.C.
