Peacefully situated in a delightful rural location this charming detached cottage offers supremely comfortable and spacious accommodation with a wealth of exposed beams period features and log fires. Its lovely garden encompasses lawns and patios overlooking the beautiful Shropshire countryside and glorious country walks can be enjoyed from the doorstep. Just 6 miles away the medieval black and white town of Much Wenlock offers a fine selection of shops inns and restaurants and wonderful views over Wenlock Edge escarpment. This is the town that inspired today's modern Olympics and visitors can explore a magnificent collection of Olympian artefacts in the local museum. Further afield there are numerous places of interest including Ironbridge Gorge the birthplace of the Industrial Revolution and now the picturesque setting for fascinating museums. The ancient town of Shrewsbury almost completely surrounded by the River Severn is known for its beautifully preserved timber-framed buildings and elegant Georgian architecture while historic Ludlow boasts two Michelin starred restaurants and some very fine food shops. Its castle is also impressive as is nearby Stokesay Castle. Golf pony trekking and quad biking are all available nearby. Pub serving food 4 miles shops 6 miles.
