A delightful spacious and beautifully presented Victorian house set in the best loved seaside resort in Wales Maes Gwyn makes a wonderful base for summer beach holidays and relaxing winter escapes. Perfect for family gatherings and reunions this large house with its adjoining ground floor apartment is ideally located in a quiet residential area just a few hundred yards from two glorious beaches and a host of family seaside attractions including traditional puppet shows and donkey and pony rides along the sands. A fine selection of shops inns cafes and restaurants are found within walking distance as is Llandudno's famously grand Victorian pier and cable tramcar rides to enjoy the fabulous vistas at the summit of Great Orme (those with a head for heights might prefer the exhilarating views of the aerial cable cars). Sailing in the bay is popular and this gracious Victorian resort also boasts a golf course and dry ski slope whilst a myriad of exciting outdoor pursuits are readily available in the nearby mountains of the Snowdonia National Park. Just 4 miles away the ancient walled town of Conwy also boasts an impressive castle. There is wonderful walking in the surrounding area and the Conwy Valley Railway line journeys to Blaenau Ffestiniog from where the narrow gauge Ffestiniog Railway continues to Porthmadog on Cardigan Bay. Shops and pubs are only 500 yards' walk.
