In a pretty Suffolk village just 4 miles from Aldeburgh these two individual properties offer delightful accommodation whatever the season – one an ultra modern and stylish lodge and the other a pink three hundred year old Grade II listed thatched cottage. One of a pair it was formerly part of the Benhall Lodge estate. At nearby Aldeburgh visitors can buy the day's catch from local fishermen on the beach and this charming little seaside town also boasts interesting shops and excellent restaurants as well as famously good fish and chips. The Suffolk Heritage Coast offers many attractions within a short drive including Southwold with its pretty beach huts and pier Orford's famous smokery Woodbridge and its historic harbour and crabbing at the pretty seaside village of Walberswick. RSPB Minsmere Dunwich Heath and Sutton Hoo (N.T.) are also easily accessible as is Framlingham Castle. Fishing riding golf walking and cycling on quiet rural lanes are all enjoyed locally. Shops and pub 1¼ miles.
